

Schoolwide Literacy: The Reading/Writing Connections

3 Days of Training

Tuesday, January 12, 2016 * Thursday, February 25, 2016 * Thursday, April 7, 2016 CESA
#12 Conference Center

Registration: 8:30 – 9:00 AM * Training: 9:00 AM – 3:30 PM

This series of workshops have been designed in a sequential manner. Participants will receive a copy of Transforming Our Teaching Through Reading/Writing Connections--Professional Development Notebook which will be used at all three trainings.

Overview

The first objective of these trainings is to provide opportunities for literacy leadership team members to learn daily practices that reduce the need for intervention and produce higher student achievement, engagement, and enjoyment. The second objective is to develop the capacity of participants to replicate this professional development in their own district and schools.

Participants will investigate time-tested advice and strategies on how to develop a school-wide learning culture that leads to more effective reading and writing across the curriculum. The participants will be using Transforming Our Teaching Through Reading/Writing Connections--Professional Development Notebook by Regie Routman.
