

Connecting the Dots: Leveraging Your Data With Learning Research

The day is finally here! Your CASE Clarity data collection is complete and it's time to review how technology integration is impacting student outcomes in your schools as a driver for 21st Century teaching and learning. Walk through the data while understanding how best to take advantage of your dashboard. Dive into success indicators and data points that are the greatest priorities for your organization. Learn how to capture data for seamless communication and updates to stakeholders. Make the most of your customized reports and recommendations as you begin identifying "high priorities" in order to establish future SMART goals and develop an action plan to support those goals.

Represent your school or district by coming together as a vertical team. The pace of the workshop, activities and tools are developed with team collaboration in mind.

The experience will be much more beneficial through vertical team representation (ideally three individuals).

WORKSHOP FACILITATOR:
LISA DEROY, EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH PARTNER

Lisa draws upon nearly 20 years of experience while navigating the ever changing K-12 landscape as a practitioner, education consultant, policy advisor and integration specialist. Lisa earned her BS at the University of Wisconsin-Madison and her M.Ed in Education Policy from the University of Virginia. In her various roles over the years she has consulted with school districts, education service agencies and various Ministries of Education regarding effective integration of technology and implementation best practices.
