Phonics, Spelling, Word Study K-3

Sept. 24, 2015, Nov. 10, 2015, and Feb. 29 2016; 9 a.m. - 2:30 p.m.

Presenter: Nicole Lehr, CESA 6 Literacy Center Coordinator

Description:

Fountas and Pinnell's Phonics Lessons reflect the most current research on child and language development, and support the kind of instruction that emerging readers need. In this workshop series, teachers will begin with an instructional and theoretical overview of these powerful resources and move toward understanding and developing a continuum of learning about letters, sounds, and words. They will discover activities designed to help them plan and implement effective lessons for teaching phonics, spelling, and vocabulary, as well as the important role poetry and literature plays in supporting children's development of letter and word knowledge.

Workshop Objectives/Goals:

- Learn the role of assessment in teaching with Phonics Lessons
- Gain knowledge of how the lessons are taught, and actively participate in demonstration lessons
- Gain understanding of, and guidance in, the importance of working with their colleagues to implement Phonics Lessons in their school
- Explore ideas and suggestions for organization of materials needed in the implementation of the Phonics Lessons

Who should attend: Grades K-3 teaching staff

Please Bring with you to the workshop:
