Adult Perspective Shifting: Key to Children's Mental Health

Friday, Sept. 18, 2015 • 12:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Presenter: Sue McKenzie, co-director
Rogers InHealth, Rogers Memorial Hospital

Description:

During this half-day workshop you will explore adult attitudes that lead to engagement of students who face mental health challenges in learning and life. Participants will gain tools and participate in training segments to help them work more effectively with students.

Topics include:

- Establishing empathic connections with students and parents.
- Co-planning with students, parents and providers.
- Core elements and beliefs to consider adopting at a district level.
- Building blocks for intrinsic motivation.

Who should attend?

- PreK-12 educators, school counselors, social workers, special education teachers, school psychologists and building principals
