TEACHING WITH POVERTY IN MIND WITH ERIC JENSEN WORKSHOP SERIES: AUGUST 22-25, 2016

Learn what being poor does to kids' brains and what schools can do about it.

Eric Jensen's high-energy, classroom-tested, research-based model is designed to erase the academic effects of poverty.

About Eric Jensen

Eric Jensen has been a leading authority on the science and applications of brain research in education for more than 15 years. He is a former teacher who has spoken at national and international conferences and taught as adjunct faculty at three universities. Jensen is a longtime member of the invitation-only Society for Neuroscience and President's Club at the prestigious Salk Institute of Biological Studies in La Jolla, California. He has authored Teaching with the Brain in Mind, and numerous other books on learning, the brain and teaching.

August 22, 2016 – Training of Trainers for the "Big 4" Strategies

Wondering how to create a plan for implementing Jensen's poverty research? This workshop will provide staff development experts the "Big 4" strategies to increase achievement for students in poverty. You will learn, in one energizing, strategy packed day, how to do the nearly impossible! Participants will get (and see modeled) strategies you can use immediately. First, you'll learn the science of how students from poverty are often different. You get evidence that every student's brain can change. Plus, you will learn how to break the pattern of failure and how to help turn struggling students into high achieving, motivated learners. You'll learn 5 clear action steps you can use to intervene in positive, practical way that every teacher can use immediately to improve student achievement. Finally, you will have time to begin to develop a plan to present engaging staff development.

Who should attend: Key professional development staff. Limit: 100 participants.

Location: Oshkosh Convention Center, 2 N. Main St., Oshkosh.

Cost: $445 per person; 30% discount available for teams of five or more.

August 23 or 25, 2016 – Engaging Students with Poverty in Mind (Replicated One-Day Sessions)

This original and special event (by the best-selling author of four books on poverty) gives you the overview of a high-energy, classroom tested, research-based model to erase the academic effects of poverty. First, you'll learn the science of how students from poverty are often different. Learn specific actionable strategies that target the gap. You get evidence that every student's brain can change. Plus, you will learn how to break the pattern of failure and how to help turn struggling students into high achieving, motivated learners. You get evidence that both teachers and entire schools can increase student achievement among the poor. Finally, you'll learn 5 clear action steps you can use to intervene in positive, practical way that every teacher can use immediately to improve student achievement.

Who should attend: K-12 elementary and secondary education teachers, ELL teachers, pupil services staff, building principals, directors of curriculum, special education, district administrators, educational assistants, and school board members.

Location: Oshkosh Convention Center, 2 N. Main St., Oshkosh.

Cost: $295 per person per one-day session; group discount pricing available.
