

GET READY FOR WOW 2016-17

Learn from the Best:

Working on the Work (WOW) is an annual, 4-part, FREE training series designed specifically for school-based teams of educators to deepen understanding, achieve consensus, and build success strategies for local implementation of Educator Effectiveness.

The 2016-17 WOW lineup of speakers includes top-tier leaders in education, offering your team access to some of the best minds in our field.

Eric Twadell (Aug 18 & 19, 2016) Setting the Stage—Eric will set the stage by engaging participants in discussion around the importance of collaborative data use and a strategic assessment process throughout the school year. This session will focus on reigniting the passion and energy for data-driven instruction.

Chris Jakicic (Oct 10 & 11, 2016) Leveraging Formative Assessment—Chris will help us focus on formative practices driving the critical questions, “Where are my students at right now?” and “What do they need next?” Chris will provide guidance around the use of formative practice to monitor student progress and drive instructional decisions.

Tim Brown (Jan 31 & Feb 1, 2017) Student Engagement in the Assessment Process—Tim will explore the purpose and process of using data from formative practices to provide high quality feedback to students, emphasizing the importance of student participation in the formative process.

Mike Mattos (Apr 26 & 27, 2017) What’s Next? - Mike will help educators reflect on their learning from WOW to determine the professional practices, systems, processes and resources necessary to sustain and improve upon their continuous cycle of improvement. and/or school improvement plan.

High praise for WOW!

“We’ve implemented several new strategies and will continue to use WOW learning to improve practice.”

— Karisa Van Caster, First Grade Teacher, Lac du Flambeau School District
