Description:

Schools are experiencing tremendous needs around student mental health. This network opportunity will provide School Psychologists with an opportunity to reflect upon their own service delivery, and their school sites' system of care for supporting students' mental health. Through the examination of their own practices, sharing, and learning from role-similar peers, school psychologists will further develop their sense of their strengths and possible next steps. There will be opportunities for attendees to share ideas and resources to further this work.
