

Grading and Assessment: Building Your Teacher Toolbox to Enhance Student Learning

Spend the day with us to discover and practice the tools you want to use in order to help all students grow!

Are your current assessment practices answering the three main questions?

- 1) Where are students now?
- 2) Where are students going?
- 3) How do I help students close the gap?

Are your assessment practices helping students accomplish local and state goals? Are they helping you identify learning targets, adapt your instruction, give feedback, and provide a clear understanding of student progress in terms of mastery of the standards?

This workshop is designed to not only answer your questions regarding your current grading and assessment practices, but it is also organized to build on your current toolbox of ideas and practices to push student achievement further.

While the theory of these practices is important, what we hear most of the time from educators is: "How do I do that?", "What does that look like in my classroom?", and "What do other teachers do?"

Topics Include:

- Creating learning targets
- Conferring with students and feedback
- Student self-assessment, goal setting and self-reflection
- Rubrics
- Grading for learning
