

Recognizing that reading and writing workshop is much more than a day of training or a few days learning with your collaborative teams, CESA #4 is offering a series where educators can select the workshop that works for them! Each workshop is a separate event, but we welcome you to attend any and all if you'd like. Content will not be repeated in the sessions, but we will prepare your professional learning with a commitment to reading and writing workshop in mind.

workshop and phonics using units of study in phonics K-2 NOVEMBER 15, 2018 | 9 AM-3 PM

This workshop is your first how-to for implementing Units of Study in Phonics. If you are working in workshop and have begun to figure out how to integrate the Units of Study in Phonics into your ELA instruction, this day will serve you well. Come peek into how the foundational practices in reading and writing workshop create a path for phonics study. Bring your Units of Study in Phonics for a day of immersion in foundational phonics concepts for our earliest readers and writers.

workshop and mentor texts JANUARY 23, 2019 | 9 AM-3 PM

This workshop is more than just lists of mentor texts that are searchable online. Here, we will discuss the magic behind powerful mentor texts and the teaching moves to make use of a mentor text over and over again. Gain specific knowledge about mentor texts and their role in reading or writing workshop. Come to get your hands on mentor texts to supplement your collection. And yes, there will be some great book talks too!

workshop and conferring & setting individual goals FEBRUARY 4, 2019 | 9 AM-3 PM

Are you working really hard on student goals for reading and writing? Are your students "in" on those goals? How? Goal setting and conferring go hand in hand when it comes to reading and writing workshop. This pointed and guarded time for independent work during workshop can be bolstered by helping readers and writers set goals that THEY OWN! We will share resources for goal setting that make sense for the classroom and dig into strategies for connecting with readers and writers during conferring.

workshop and small groups APRIL 8, 2019 | 9 AM-3 PM

In the world of workshop, whether it is reading or writing, small groups can prove to be a tricky structure for teachers. This workshop will address the sticking points, direct participants to some resources for enhancing small group, and provide a solid base around some big ideas about small groups. Come if you are curious about the role of assessment, how to shift the load to students, ideas for supporting without over scaffolding and some takeaways for predictable small groups.

$150 per person per date

CESA #4 Title III Consortium Members Pricing: Two FREE seats per district per session

Alma Center-Humbird Merrillan | Bangor | Black River Falls | Blair-Taylor | Cashton | Cochrane-Fountain City | De Soto
Gale-Ettrick-Trempealeau | Hillsboro | La Farge | Melrose-Mindoro | Norwalk-Ontario-Wilton | Royall | Sparta | Tomah
Viroqua | West Salem | Westby | Whitehall | Wonewoc-Union Center

Register on www.myquickreg.com or click the title above.