LAUNCHING UNIVERSAL DESIGN FOR LEARNING

Universal Design for Learning--designing and delivering instruction to meet the needs of all learners!

August 6 and 7, 2019, 9 AM - 3 PM
August 8, 2019, 9 AM - 12 PM

CESA #4
923 East Garland Street
West Salem, WI

Recognition Networks
The "what" of learning

Strategic Networks
The "how" of learning

Affective Networks
The "why" of learning

Wondering how to increase student learning in classrooms throughout your school?
Want to make instruction more engaging for all students?
Looking to create opportunities in education through equitable planning and design?

These questions serve as the foundation for this series that will build your leadership team's knowledge of UDL Guidelines and principles, designing curriculum and instruction on the front-end, and plan for thoughtful implementation. In addition, digital learning tools that align with the UDL Guidelines will be explored.

The design of this series focuses on the power of team implementation. Teams must include a school leader. Additional team members may include classroom teachers as well as specialists to deepen the discussion and consider how the UDL Guidelines might be brought to life in a school. This work can also serve as a strategy intended to improve student learning outcomes.

Build your team today!

REGISTER HERE
or go to myQuickReg

Fee: $50 per person
for three day series

CESA CONTACTS

ERIN HANSEN
Special Education Consultant
ehansen@cesa4.org

KAYE HENRICKSON
Digital Literacy Director
khenrickson@cesa4.org

LAURA VEGLAHN
Instructional Services Director
lveglahn@cesa4.org