

Thinking like a Historian

Guide the next generation to think more deeply about the past - to think like historians.

Do you love history? Are you fascinated and enthusiastic about studying or teaching history?

With practical examples, engaging and effective lessons, and classroom activities that tie to essential questions, “Thinking Like a Historian” provides a framework to enhance and improve teaching and learning history.

The contributors to “Thinking Like a Historian” are experienced historians and educators from elementary through university levels. This philosophical and pedagogical guide to history as a discipline uses published standards of the American Historical Association, the Organization of American Historians, the National Council for History Education, the National History Standards and state standards for Wisconsin and California.

This workshop is appropriate for both elementary and secondary teachers.

March 21st

CESA #3

8:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m.

Cost: $50

Register online at www.myquickreg.com

Your presenter:
Co-author Nikki Mandell
History Department
University of Wisconsin-
Whitewater