

Student Learning Objectives for Education Specialists

October 10, 2013, January Online, and April 30, 2014

Presenter: Cheryl Simonson and Cathy Clarksen
CESA 6 Effectiveness Project Trainers

Description

The goal of this professional development is to ensure participants are prepared to implement the Department of Public Instruction's Student Learning Objective process. This process provides accountability for learner performance while supporting instructional assignments of staff. SLOs require the use of data during the goal setting process to ensure rigorous, meaningful student growth and/or program outcomes.

Bring if you have...current goals you are considering and computer/tablets.

Workshop Objectives

Participants will:

- Write and review high quality SLOs.
- Learn how to assist others in the development of high quality SLOs.
- Learn how to be a team/peer SLOs evaluator.
- Understand the importance teachers' play in the SLOs process. For ed. specialist use—Understand how your program supports the school system within the SLOs process.

Who should attend?

Includes school counselors, school nurses, school psychologists, social workers, library media specialists, instructional technology specialists, occupational and physical therapists and could also include speech/language therapists. It does not include non-teaching, non-certified, non-licensed staff, such as clerical assistants or custodians.
