In Academic and Career Planning (ACP), teachers, parents, and others provide ongoing guidance and mentoring to students over a period of years. Students learn to deepen their knowledge of themselves. They then set goals that are truly theirs and make plans for achieving them. The goals apply not only to their experience inside school walls, but also to their lives outside of school and to their future beyond graduation.

The process of creating this plan is actually more important than the product (the plan) that results. Why? Because even though a student's goals will change over time, going through the Academic and Career Planning process has the power to engage students in their learning and to help them develop skills of self-awareness and planning.

In this workshop, your team will:

- ⇒ Get the big picture on ACP requirements.
- ⇒ Develop an understanding of how your current Education for Employment E4E Plan meshes with ACP.
- ⇒ Explore relationships between ACPs, your School Counseling Program, Student IEPs, your current career exploration software and others.
- ⇒ Utilize the ACP Self-Assessment template to determine your district's readiness for implementation.
- ⇒ Utilize Team Work time to begin to build your ACP Implementation Plan!!
