

SAVE THE DATE

Ethics and Jurisprudence in Relation to Violence and Abuse in the Lives of Physical Therapy Clients

AUDIENCE: Occupational Therapists, Physical Therapists

WHEN: January 24, 2011
1:00 to 5:00 pm

WHERE: Via Distance - Transmitted to the 12 CESAs from the Pyle Center

CREDIT: 4 hours of WPTA Contact Hours is pending

PRESENTERS: JILL SCHIFF BOISSONNAULT, PT, Ph.D. currently teaches professional issues in the Physical Therapy program at UW-Madison and is Director of the UW-Hospitals and Clinics/Meriter Hospital Post-Professional Residency

LINDA JUARBE is a social and human rights activist with over nineteen years of experience in working with domestic violence and sexual assault victims.

CJ DOXTATER is an aging and disabilities specialist with the Wisconsin Coalition Against Domestic Violence.

DESCRIPTION: This four-hour teleconference on ethics and jurisprudence is related to issues of domestic violence, elder abuse and child abuse as they affect the care of physical therapy clients and patients. The course includes documentation responsibilities, community resources, reporting obligations, and appropriate screening questions to ask patients and families.

CERTIFICATION: This course is certified for 4 hours by Wisconsin Physical Therapy Association (WPTA). The 4 hours in Ethics and Jurisprudence is required by PTs and PTAs to renew their DRL license. Participants must complete the 4 hours.

COST: $50.00

REGISTRATION: Online: <http://www.cesa4.k12.wi.us/prodev/event/311>

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION: Colleen Mulder, Personnel Development Coordinator
cmulder@cesa4.k12.wi.us
(608) 786-4848 or (800) 514-3075
Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) #4
923 East Garland Street
West Salem, WI 54669