

Instructional Coaches Network

Four half-days in 2016-17
October 14, December 9, February 17, April 21
8:30-11:30 AM

The role of Instructional Coaches is relatively new in many districts and varies dramatically from one district to another. There are however, common experiences where a set of specific skills and understandings support the work in this unique role. The CESA 2 Instructional Coaches Network is an opportunity for coaches to engage in professional development and collegial conversations with other coaches in the CESA 2 region.

Each session will include professional development, practice in coaching, and reflection on practice:

- Extend essential coaching skills of building relationships, actively listening, asking effective questions, and developing trust
- Identify effective instructional practices to share with our clients
- Offer collegial support with sticky/challenging coaching situations
- Provide opportunities to learn from other coaches

Who Should Attend:

Instructional coaches, literacy coaches, all who support teachers, administrators

Cost:

$225/person for 4 half-day sessions

Held at:

CESA 2 Innovation Drive, Whitewater, WI

Coaching provides invaluable job-embedded professional development for our educators. Joyce and Showers (1995) showed the powerful impact of coaching in comparison with other methods for raising understanding, skill attainment, and application of new skills.

Component of Training	Understanding	Skill Attainment	Application
Theory Understanding Workshop	85%	15%	5-10%
Demonstration	85%	18%	5-10%
Practice and feedback	85%	80%	10-15%
Coaching	90%	90%	80-90%
