Course Description

Students attend the Friday and Saturday sessions of the Kelly Gallagher workshop (registration/lodging fees are in addition to credit tuition costs) and then develop ideas and practices learned at the workshop that support their individual professional development goals.

Credit Requirements (1 grad credit)

- Summarize the content of the workshop – including critical observations about the way the presenter treats issues of diversity (race, culture, language, and ethnicity) in the teaching/learning dynamic.
- Write a “connections” paper in which you explain the connections between 3-5 ideas you learned at the workshop and what you teach (or plan now to teach).
- Identify 2-3 professional development goals you have as a result of your participation in this workshop.

WI Teaching Standards
