

Wiggle Your Way Thru the Web 2.0

July 11, 12, and 13 - 2011

Paula Walser, Director of E-Learning

Web 2.0 tools have the capacity to revolutionize the classrooms of today. Web 2.0 tools are web based, interactive and often FREE!

Join us for a journey through the wonderful world of Web 2.0 for Education

This graduate course will explore a variety of web based web 2.0 tools/concepts as well as provide hands on practice in the use of these tools.

Participants will learn to:

- Describe different Web 2.0 technologies and the manner in which they can be applied in education
- Review, evaluate and use social bookmarking, copyright friendly websites, glogster, xtranormal and other web based tools
- Brainstorm and record how Web 2.0 tools can be used in supporting classroom practice and developing teacher networks
- Create an avatar for use on education networks and become familiar with classroom uses for avatars
- Create and establish a wiki using PBWorks or Wikispaces
- Create and begin a Twitter micro-blogging account and establish connections with other educators during the course of the workshop

Day 1:

- Develop an understanding of the web 2.0 concept
