Common Core State Standards: Inside the Classroom Workshop Series

The workshop series will be offered each quarter, with new video examples and simulations explored each time so teachers may attend more than once. Workshop series is designed to support teachers through implementation of a lesson or unit of study by:

- Using rubrics to observe exemplar videos classroom instruction across three days IN THEIR SPECIFIC CONTENT, teachers will identify the express meaning of combining ELA standards with content standards, making use the gradual release of responsibility model coupled with formative assessment, and productive collaborative work sessions.
- Using same rubrics, teachers will self-assess a current lesson or unit of study and identify opportunities for improvement. Support will be given to revise lessons or units.
- Reconvening on the second day (two weeks later) with student samples and completed reflection checklists (student and teacher) to collaboratively ascertain the rigor of classroom instruction and degree to which selected CCSS were met. Using insights from first application, design a second lesson or unit of study. Support will be given to design lessons or units.
