

Food Science Equivalency

June 22, 2011

To remain relevant and up-to-date, Family and Consumer Science courses are integrating more and more 21st Century Science concepts. Please join us for this one-day networking event to transform your food science or a food related course into a DPI Science Equivalency credit course.

The network day will focus on the development of the DPI curriculum "Crosswalk" document for FCS and Science. This is the essential document needed for DPI approval of the Food Science Equivalency Credit! Make the task easier - Work on it with your colleagues. We will also discuss the DPI paperwork and approval process, board approval process, Food Science Wiki, and allow for networking time.
