You asked. We listened!

In response to requests from our CESA 2 districts, we are offering a session on Behavior Interventions. This session will focus on techniques that can be applied within an RtI or MTSS, PBIS, or EM-LSS model. The techniques can be implemented with an individual, small group, or class/teacher level as well but, as with any technique, the impacts will be magnified by systemic use.

CESA 2 is partnering with UW-Madison's School Psychology Doctoral students to deliver the content. Broad categories of the behavioral techniques covered include: antecedent strategies, teaching expected behaviors, consequence strategies, and progress-monitoring.

Participants will receive the training, resources, and materials required to use the intervention strategies learned in the session.

Elizabeth Freeman has been supporting CESA 2 schools since 2015. Her areas of specialty include School Systems, School Improvement, Data Analysis, Strategic Planning, RtI/MTSS, and Pupil Service Delivery. Elizabeth practiced as a School Psychologist near Madison, WI after receiving her doctorate in Educational Psychology from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in 2007.
