Putting the Pieces Together: Project-Based Learning, Technology, and Your Classroom

Who: K-12 teachers and other interested educators

When: Wednesday, October 14 - Tuesday, December 1, 2009

Description:

"Putting the Pieces Together" will allow you to gain experience using productivity software (word processor, spreadsheet, and presentation) featuring ideas for Microsoft Office and Google Docs, spreadsheet, and presentations to enhance technology use in their classroom. Instruction will include effective technology integration, project-based learning, management, assessment tools, and exploration and creating projects using a word processor, spreadsheet, and presentation software. You will 'learn' from the other participants and weekly course materials.

During this online class you will:

1. complete weekly readings, viewing of websites, or hands-on assignments that will provide techniques on how to integrate technology into the classroom and create a variety of projects using Microsoft Office or Google Docs.
2. participate in weekly online discussions based on readings and activities.
3. create a lesson plan that incorporates the effective use of one or more techniques that are covered during class.

Viterbo Credit: Two graduate credits from Viterbo University will be available for $180. Enrollment forms will be mailed to participants prior to the start date of the class.

Facilitator: Jennifer Casper, CESA 5

Registration Deadline: Wednesday, September 30, 2009
