

Putting the Units of Study to Work:

A Three-Day Virtual Series Navigating the Phonics, Reading, and Writing Units of Study

Whether you are new to teaching and navigating the Units of Study or have been implementing for a few years, this series is for you. Workshop participants will dive deeply into the Units of Study for Phonics, Reading, and Writing over the course of this series. Each workshop will take participants through the content and methods of the Units of Study with specific recommendations for successful implementation in schools and online.
