

Engaging and Empowering Adolescent Readers and Writers

with Kelly Gallagher and Penny Kittle

Two Day Workshop

Tuesday, August 3, 2021
and
Wednesday, August 4, 2021

8:30am-3:00pm

Glacier Canyon Conference Center, Wisconsin Dells

Day 1: The Art of Essay Writing

Penny and Kelly will share how they invite young writers to discover the freedom and possibility of exploring the meaning of their lives through the art of essay writing. Specifically, they will discuss beliefs and practices that move students away from distant, unemotional, and faceless “school writing” and into a self-generating, determined practice of finding, collecting, and playing with ideas.

Day 2: Daily Decisions: Beliefs and Practices to Reclaim Student Creativity and Agency

Agency and creativity flourish when students are given the space to make decisions, speed bumps and all. But giving up much of the decision making to our students can be scary. In this workshop, Penny and Kelly will share how they have ceded many decisions, and how doing so was foundational to building creativity and agency in their adolescent students.
