

CESA 7 Learning Services Presents

Co-Planning to Co-Serving to Co-Teaching: the Power of Collaboration

Facilitated by: Dr. Marci Waldron-Kuhn

Dates	September 15, 2021 and October 5, 2021
Time:	9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
Place:	CESA 7 - Meeting Room C (please enter glass doors at west side of building)
Intended Audience:	Classroom Teachers, Special Education Teachers, Paraprofessionals, Directors of Pupil Services/Special Education, Principals/Administrators
What you will learn:	This two-day professional development workshop series will allow participants to build skills needed to create and run effective, collaborative and inclusive co-taught classrooms. It will begin by developing teachers' skills in the understanding of and implementation of inclusion and the importance of collaboration (whether or not you will be co-teaching or not). We will examine the different Co-Teaching Models, as laid out and used by Dr. Marilyn Friend and Dr. Andrea Honigsfeld. Teachers will be provided with tools to build and support ongoing collaboration, communication, and co-planning. Teachers will learn how to use the different co-teaching structures to meet the diverse needs of their students and help address achievement gaps along with issues of access and equity.
