

What Every Principal Needs to Know About Adolescent Literacy (A Focus on Writing Instruction)

Friday, January 27
9 AM-3 PM
CESA 5 Conference Room
626 E. Slifer St., Portage

Perfect for principals, curriculum directors and other building leaders who want to better understand high quality writing instruction. We will explore:

- The Common Core State Standards in writing
- The disconnect and difference between high school and college writing
- College and technical school writing expectations
- Characteristics of high quality writing instruction—what does it look like?
- Assessment, grading and growth in student writing
- Creating and evaluating a writing program
- What your teachers want you to know about writing instruction

This workshop is part of the Wisconsin Improving Teacher Quality Grant project Sound the ALARMS! It is provided free of charge. Please register on www.myquickreg.com so we can plan for food and materials. Contact Lisa Arneson with questions at arnesonl@cesa5.org
