Registration: 8:30 AM

Training: 9:00 AM to 3:00 PM

Overview

“School bonding, school climate, teacher support, student engagement: Researchers have used these terms over the years to address the concept of school connectedness. School connectedness refers to an academic environment in which students believe that adults in the school care about their learning and about them as individuals.” (Blum, 2005). One way to build connectedness with students is through small group activities. This workshop will teach participants how to facilitate small group activities for MS and HS students. Participants will also acquire skills to ask open-ended questions and lead a small group exploration of topics related to early and mid and late adolescence, and explore the developmental stages and tasks of early, mid and late adolescence.
