Bring your partners!

Join us for four days of training on the Center for Social Emotional Foundation of Early Learning (CSEFEL) Pyramid Model for supporting social and emotional competence in children ages birth through five.

This systematic, evidence-based framework promotes the social emotional development of all young children and helps to prevent and address challenging behavior.

Participants will explore:

- Research upon which the Pyramid Model is based
- Strategies to build positive relationships
- Ways to create enriching environments that support self-confidence & independence
- The development of friendship skills
- Building anger and impulse control
- Intentional teaching of problem solving & emotional literacy

Presenters:

Susan Donahoe, CESA #2 Early Childhood Coordinator and Autism Consultant for Early Childhood

Becca Lewis-Clifton, CESA #3 Early Childhood Coordinator & WSPEI Liaison

\*One or two graduate credits from Viterbo, for $190/credit, or Registry credit will be available. Must attend all four sessions to receive credit.*

NOTE: By attending this training childcare providers can receive up to two points in YoungStar Health and Wellness Criteria.
