12:30pm - 3:00pm

Back by high demand and student need!

Join us as we learn, network, and implement Assistive Technology (AT) blended with Universal Design for Learning (UDL) Each session will focus on AT and how it can be used through the lens of UDL in order to provide more opportunities for all students to access instruction in ways that are meaningful, authentic, and relevant.

Participants will interact and explore tools, understand the SETT Framework, learn how to target tools and devices to increase student access, and support learners through their IEP plans.

Who should attend?

Anyone with dedication to learning and sharing with others within your district about assistive technology and how it can improve student access, independence and outcomes: classroom teachers, Special Education teachers, and/or related service providers.

It will be essential for participants to attend all 4 sessions.

Sarah is a former Occupational Therapist for the School District of Holmen and served as the Assistive Technology Coordinator. As the former chair of the district-wide Assistive Technology Committee and a member of the Instructional Technology Committee, Sarah has over 35 years of experience in public education teaching students, teachers, and paraprofessionals.

Only $100 for SEIS Member Districts!

$150 standard registration fee
