Using both an academic and social-emotional lens, we will learn how to cultivate a cohesive program for your students using high-leverage practices. We will learn how to tackle the root cause analysis, dig deep into the effects of the disability, and understand how to conduct assessments and analyze evaluation data to expand our common understanding, develop effective goals, and plan practical progress monitoring tools. This series aspires to increase skills, comfortability, and improve your programming through learning, networking, and application.
