

COACHING: A CORNERSTONE FOR CHANGE

This five-part professional learning series is centered on the instructional coaching skills defined in Wisconsin's Coaching Competency Practice Profile. Participants can expect to learn, reflect, and practice skills centered around relationship development, coaching conversations, change facilitation, and equity mindset.

Coaches will also consider the power of coaching teams and systems. The morning of Day One will explore building the importance of the coach/principal relationship as well as systems of coaching support. Principal/Leadership attendance for the morning of Day One is strongly encouraged.

The price covers the entire learning series for one coach as well as the cost for ONE Principal/Leader to attend for the morning of Day One. Lunches are included for all participants during in-person days. (Indicate the leader's name and contact info when registering.)

Facilitator: Joseph Kanke

Joseph is wrapping up his fifth year as the Statewide Coaching Coordinator. His mission is to act as a liaison between the field and the state with the intention of creating a statewide system of coaching supports for regions, districts and schools to access as they develop their own coaching programs. He is also passionate about equity and how coaches can hold this at the center of their work.
