

Restorative Practices for Educators | Training of Trainers (TOT)

June 10 -12, 2024 | 8:30am-4:30pm

Mid-State Technical College | Stevens Point, WI

For those interested in the role of trainer, this 3-day workshop is for experienced practitioners who are seeking instruction and certification on providing “Restorative Practices for Educators” trainings, including how to teach the key concepts of Restorative Practices.

This session is facilitated by IIRP

✓ ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

The Training of Trainers (TOT) event is for experienced restorative practitioners. It is of the utmost importance that TOT participants have real-time experience implementing the concepts of restorative practices as they embark in their role as trainer. To be eligible to attend the Fundamentals of Restorative Practices TOT event, participants must first complete a “Restorative Practices for Educators” training and be well versed in the use of affective language, building a restorative community and facilitating proactive and responsive circles.

During the TOT, participants will be required to share their previous experiences of Restorative Practices implementation. There is no specific time frame developed by the IIRP to participate, because readiness is dependent on personal experience, and timing will vary for each individual.

THIS INTERACTIVE TOT TRAINING WILL INCLUDE:

- Review of IIRP training modules
- Participant preparation and presentation of content.
- Discussion of best practices for training implementation.
- Professional development maps that include learning outcomes and objectives.
- Suggestions for how to deliver the instruction online based on our years of experience with distance learning.
- Support for creating modules unique to your situation, if you are unable to deliver the materials as suggested by the IIRP.
- Facilitated conversation about the integration of the IIRP materials with other initiatives.

This interactive event teaches experienced restorative practitioners how to deliver the training modules to their own colleagues, either in-person or online, using IIRP materials.

AFTER TRAINING

- Participants will be prepared to teach others the IIRP curriculum and assist in the implementation of restorative practices in your school or organization.
- COACHING SESSIONS WITH THE WISH CENTER
  - Included in training registration is the availability of two virtual coaching meetings with a WISH Center trainer, to be completed in the school year following the TOT.

A general Certificate of Participation indicating 18 hours of instruction time will be provided by email at the completion of this online professional development event. Participants are welcome to submit this Certificate of Participation to their accrediting body for Continuing Education Credit consideration.
