

Assistive Technology In the Classroom for All Students

Why not give all students' access to technology that will support their ability to learn? This workshop will explore assistive technology in the areas of reading, writing, and communication. This hands-on workshop will explore tools that can be utilized within the classroom to give struggling students the ability to work independently on class assignments, activities and homework. Work with some of the software before you decide to buy. Technology is out there to help students, why not expose them to tools that will support them in all environments.

April 23, 2012

Presenter: Tracy Hogden

Check-in at 8:30 am.

Presentation from 9:00 am-3:00 pm

Location: CESA 4

Cost: $150.00 per person

Register at: www.myquickreg.com

Questions: Contact Becky Martin
608-786-4832