SMARTBoards: New Tools for the Classroom

Who: K-12 teachers and other interested educators

When: Saturday November 7, 2009 8:30-4:00 (lunch on your own) and

Thursday November 19 & Thursday December 3 (4:00-7:30 p.m.)
@ Mauston High School LMC Lab 800 Grayside Ave., Mauston

Description:

Participants in this hands-on course will examine the new learning environment for teachers and students made possible through the effective use of interactive whiteboards (SMARTBoards). They will learn how to: 1) use the basic tools of the Notebook software to operate the SMARTBoard; 2) use Notebook software to create a SMARTBoard presentation that is enriched with graphic detail; 3) work with applications such as WORD, PowerPoint, and web browsers on the SMARTBoard; and 4) locate SMARTBoard resources and lesson plans online. Participants will also discuss best practice examples and methodologies for assessing the impact of these tools on instruction. They will also identify and discuss ways that SMARTBoards can be effectively used in their classrooms. Participants will use their new knowledge to develop a unit or project incorporating SMARTBoard use into their classroom curriculum or for professional development activities. Unit/Project will be due by Friday December 18th.

Viterbo Credit: One graduate credit from Viterbo University will be available for $90. Enrollment forms and payment (check or credit card) will be collected on November 7.

Facilitator: Jennifer Casper, CESA 5

Registration Deadline: Friday, October 23, 2009

Class is limited to 20 participants, on a first come, first-served basis.
