

Making Sense of Your School Report Card

August 24, 2012
9:00–12:00

The individual School Report Cards are scheduled to be released into SAFE accounts sometime in September. We have been told to expect that these will be made public rather quickly. What will these new School Report Cards look like? How will the index score be calculated? What kind of supporting documents will accompany the summary page? How might the Report Card be communicated to parents and the community?

This workshop is intended to provide school and district administrators the answers to these, and other, questions before the Report Cards are actually released to allow ample time for planning and preparation.
