William Steele, PsyD, MSW

November 10 and/or November 11, 2009
Liberty Hall in Kimberly
8:00 Registration—8:30 to 3:30 Workshop

Crisis Intervention:

Learn what to do in the days following a trauma when crisis intervention may be needed. Videotaped segments and role-plays are used to demonstrate very specific intervention processes. Multiple hand-outs provide checklists, etc. Participants will be provided with protocol that provides responses at all levels within a school system that are designed to restore a sense of safety and order, and minimize at risk responses for all student/staff exposed to critical incidents.

Audience: Those interested in increasing their knowledge of the stages of crisis intervention, how to help victims and survivors following exposure, and how to identify those who may be at-risk.

Trauma Debriefing in Schools and Agencies:

Five debriefing models are demonstrated: Debriefing for adolescents and adults, Defusing for K-5th grade, Operational Debriefing for all staff, Debriefing the Debriefers, Crisis Team members or first respondents and Classroom Presentation which is different than debriefing and usually initiated before the start of debriefing.

Audience: Participants will be provided with varied structured debriefing models and skills for use in school or agency settings with children/adolescents and/or staff following exposure to violent or non-violent yet trauma inducing incidents.

Cost: $100.00 for one day or $175.00 for both days
$200.00 additional for 1 credit through UW-O must attend both days (optional)
