

Classroom Projects with iPads Thursday, October 11, 2012

Instructor: Mary Fitzwater

iPads can be used to focus on specific skill development or as a tool to take students to a new level of creativity via classroom projects. In this hands-on class with iPads, we will explore how these tools can be used for planning, research, exploration, presentation and submission of classroom projects. We will then try your hand at creating/exploring a variety of project examples with an assortment of creative project apps.

Audience: Users who are comfortable with basic iPad use and are ready to move into creative projects.
