2012-13 Schedule of Activities

Title III Network Meetings

September 27, 2012

Featuring: Audrey Lesondak, EL Education Consultant, DPI

Examine the question, “How can a classroom teacher support one or two students and still keep the entire class on task?”

Audrey will provide strategies and support for teachers working to support English learners. Networking time will be available to share best practices and planning for 2012-13.

December 12, 2012

Featuring: Amy Christianson, Edgewood College

Amy will present a new online tool that is designed to provide interventions and support for culturally diverse learners. Bring your laptops. Amy will also showcase an upcoming grant opportunity that will provide scholarships and credit opportunities for teachers of English learners.

The meeting will also include updates and follow up discussion on Rick DuVall’s vocabulary workshop. What have you tried? What’s worked? More ideas?

April 26, 2013

Featuring: WIDA

Learn more about FLARE—The Formative Language Assessment Record for ELLs—a project to develop and validate a formative assessment system for teachers serving EL students. Use this tool in your classroom.

Meeting will include updates and networking/sharing time, as well as planning time for 2013-14.

October 2 & 3, 2012

Vocabulary Development to Close the Achievement Gap

Dr. Rick DuVall will provide educators strategies for nurturing vocabulary development.

December 3, 2012

Shifts in the Common Core

Study the major instructional shifts of the Common Core State Standards in grades K-12 and their impact on instruction for EL students.

January 11, 2013

iPads to Assist the Struggling Student.

Jessica Brogley, SWTC, will provide multiple apps to support students who are struggling in your classroom. This workshop would be appropriate for EL teachers as well as Title I, Special Education and Classroom teachers who are looking for that “way” to reach the student who just didn’t get it the first time.
