The Benchmark Assessment system seems to have it all, but how do you do a concise reading record and utilize the information to guide instruction? During this day we will go over how to code a reading record, how to analyze using the M/S/V portion, what a comprehension conversation should look like and how to use all that information in your teaching. This day is open to anyone who will be utilizing the Benchmark Assessment system. If your staff is looking to use this and would all like to attend, that would be great. Participants should have materials prior to attendance.

Learning Outcomes:

1. Participants will go over how to code a reading record.
2. How to analyze the M/S/V portion of a reading record.
3. Learn what a comprehension conversation should look like.
