EFFECTIVE PRACTICES FOR DPI'S NEW IEP: POSTSECONDARY TRANSITION PLAN

Thursday, November 8, 2012 • 8:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

Description

This full day training is intended to inform school personnel how to implement Effective Practices for DPI's New IEP: Postsecondary Transition Plan (PTP) application and explore a variety of new transition resources. The PTP application includes a multitude of resources that can be utilized when creating high quality transition plans.

In addition, this training will preview and highlight the new and improved WSTI website and the new Transition Resources for Youth (TR4Y) website. Trainer will also highlight new tools for families and youth. This training has been developed in collaboration with DPI and WSTI.

NOTE: This training is not a "how to use" the PTP application. Online training modules on how to use the PTP application can be found on DPI's website at <http://dpi.wi.gov/sped/spp-transition.html> and can be completed at your own pace

Workshop Objectives

- Identify the new requirements regarding Indicator 13
- Explore the PTP software program to learn about the imbedded resources
- Increase awareness of effective practices that produce desired post-school outcomes
- Apply effective practice when writing student transition plans
- Review methods to engage the student in each step of the transition planning process
- Review the new WSTI website and identify resources that are available there

Who should attend?

Educators who work with students of transition age.
