

Intervention Strategies for Struggling Readers and Writers Guided Reading Plus

March 20, 2013 • 8:30 a.m. - 3 p.m.

Presenter: Nicole Lehr
CESA 6 Literacy Center Coordinator

Description: Guided Reading Plus Groups are for children in grades one to three who are reading at the early to transitional levels of reading and writing, but are lagging behind their classmates. The lesson includes four components: pre-planned word study activity, orientation to the new book, independent reading with teacher observations and follow-up teaching points, including discussion of the message. One lesson format begins with assessment: the teacher takes a running record on two children while the other students read easy or familiar texts. Then the focus shifts to the writing component, which includes four predictable parts: responding to guided reading text, composing individual messages, writing independently, and holding one-to-one writing conferences with the teacher.

Workshop Objectives

- Differentiate classroom instruction to meet the needs of all learners, including children who struggle the most in literacy;
- Transform struggling students into successful readers and writers;
- Build small-group interventions based on the Comprehension for Intervention Model.

Who should attend: Grades 1-6 teaching staff
