Personal Financial Literacy is an important skill that all our students must have to succeed in their futures. Join us for a network meeting of your colleagues that will help you revise a Personal Financial Literacy (PFL) course you are currently teaching or get new suggestions to create a course offering!

The WI Personal Financial Literacy Teacher of the Year, Sarah Campbell of Wisconsin Dells will join us and present her curriculum to participants. You will participate in the activities she uses with her students and learn about new online resources.

We will also discuss the development of an online PFL course that you could offer to your students. Network time will be provided – Please bring websites and other resources to share with your colleagues. You will leave with Great Ideas and Teaching Strategies on how to help your students become “Financial Literate”!!

The session will be facilitated by Pamela Hilleshiem-Setz, Ph.D., School-to-Work Director, CESA 5.

Bring your own laptop computer with wireless capability and a flash drive.
