

Spiral Curriculum for Teaching Writing: Assessment-based instruction in Narrative, Informational, and Argument Writing

Presenter: Lucy Calkins

About the Presenter:

Lucy Calkins is the author of the popular firsthand classroom materials Units of Study for Primary Writing and Units of Study for Teaching Writing, Grades 3–5, as well as several companion resources for literacy coaches and principals. Most recently, Lucy has published a curriculum for the reading workshop, Units of Study for Teaching Reading, Grades 3-5, and she has written the Common Core Reading & Writing Workshop series for Grades K–8.

In addition, Lucy is the author of numerous foundational professional texts with Heinemann, including The Art of Teaching Writing and One to One. She is also the author of The Art of Teaching Reading.

She is the Founding Director of the Teachers College Reading and Writing Project at Columbia University's Teachers College. For more than twenty-five years, the Project has been both a think tank—developing state of the art teaching methods—and a provider of professional development. In these capacities, the Project has supported hundreds of thousands of educators.

As the leader of this world renowned organization, Lucy works closely with policy-makers, superintendents, district leaders and school principals to instigate and sustain school-wide and system-wide educational reforms. But above all, Lucy works closely with teachers and with their classrooms full of wise and wonderful children. Lucy is also the Richard Robinson Professor of Children's Literature at Teachers College, where she leads the Literacy Specialist program.

Description: This practical and inspirational workshop will equip you to assess your students as writers and to develop a rigorous course of study that will move them from where they are to where they need to be. Expect to learn practical strategies for whole-school reform in the teaching of writing.
