Screening & Progress Monitoring Two-day Team-based session

The Screening and Progress Monitoring training will increase the capacity of school teams in creating effective and collaborative processes to collect and analyze data within an Rtl framework.

Audience

- Leadership staff, instructional staff, problem-solving team members, both general and special education teachers.
- Prior attendance at a WI Rtl Foundational Overview/Framework Training is highly recommended.

Outcomes

- Learn steps for creating and sustaining a systemic screening and progress monitoring process
- Understand the purpose, components, and benefits of universal screening and progress monitoring in Wisconsin’s Rtl Framework
- Identify potential tools and data sources for use in a universal screening and progress monitoring process
- Learn processes for collaborative analysis of universal screening and progress monitoring results
- Learn strategies for digging deeper into student and school level screening results
- Learn strategies to use progress monitoring data for instructional decision-making
- Apply strategies to student and school level data
- Refine and evaluate a screening and progress monitoring process

What to Bring

School teams are encouraged to bring a list of tools and data currently used in the school/district for screening and progress monitoring. If available, teams should bring, copies of current data-based decision-making processes and/or decision rules used by collaborative teams in the school/district. Each team member will benefit from access to a wireless device or laptop. One per team member.

Cost

$100 per person. Fee covers both days of training and a light breakfast, lunch, and snack each day.
