

2013 District and School Report Card Overview

The new individual District Accountability Report Card and the School Accountability Report Cards are scheduled to be released into SAFE on August 12th. These will be released publically later in September. This workshop is intended to provide school and district administrators an opportunity to be guided through the index areas and better understand the data behind both kinds of accountability scores. Because this is the first year for the District Accountability Report Card, we'll also take time to discuss communication plans to stakeholders.
