

Assessing Student Progress

“Reaching different proficiency levels”

Friday, October 18, 2013

9:00 AM – 3:30 PM (registration from 8:30 – 9:00)

Drummond School District, 52440 Eastern Avenue, Drummond, WI

CESA #12 Annual Fall Inservice Day

As districts begin implementing standard-based curriculum maps in their districts, their next step is to begin using effective assessment strategies to assess student progress. In addition, educators will be required in the following school year to gather student assessment data for the student learning objectives required by the new state evaluation system.

We are pleased to welcome Stephen Ventura from the Leadership and Learning Center to help facilitate the day. Mr. Ventura will present in the morning on data-driven decision-making, assessment, standards, and how they make the difference in quality school improvement. He will work with teachers and administrators to show how gathered, analyzed, and properly used data contribute significantly to meeting the needs of every student in the school and district. In the afternoon, participants will work with others from their department and/or grade band to begin developing common formative assessments based on information learned in the morning that will support standards, student progress, and the new educator evaluation system. Each group will be lead by an educator from the region trained by Mr. Ventura the day before to lead and organize this work.

Lunch will be served for all participants and a door prize(s) given at the end of the day!

Join us for assistance in this process as we work collaboratively as a region!
