

Conscious Classroom Management: What the Best Teachers Do Everyday

Two-Day Seminar

December 1, 2010 & January 6, 2011

Presented by Julee Dredske & Genevieve Kirchman

Every teacher wants to be a great teacher! This seminar will help you learn about who you are as a teacher, what you can do proactively and how to respond to problems. Learn how to assume the best about students and to develop an inner authority when dealing with problems. Learn how to:

- Hold your ground with students
- Form positive connections
- Implement successful teaching procedures
- Design engaging lessons; employ active learning strategies; and effectively use consequences
- Establish classroom rules/agreements & procedures
- Create a positive learning environment
- Manage group learner activities

Great workshop for those educators looking for classroom management as a PDP goal!

Come prepared to grow and have fun learning together! Leave with more tools in your teacher toolkit and a great resource book! All participants will receive Rick Smith's book, Conscious Classroom Management.

One Graduate Credit Available through Viterbo University. Cost of credit is $200.

Standards Addressed: TS3, TS4, TS5, AS1, AS1, AS3, PSS1, PSS2
