

Digging Into Differentiation: Strategies That Work

November 19, 2010

Presented by Jackie Drummer

What do a RAFT, Tic Tac Toe, Cubing, Compacting, Hardest First, Questioning, and Tiering all have in common? You guessed it! These are all strategies that help teachers differentiate instruction for their students and makes differentiation invisible. If you're looking for some strategies that can move you along down the differentiation instruction highway, this workshop is for you. You're guaranteed to come away with something that you can implement in your classroom to improve student participation and performance!

This workshop is available for one graduate credit when combined with one additional CESA 5 differentiated instruction seminar.
