

Effective Educational Coaching

September 13, 2010
November 16, 2010
January 19, 2011
8:30 AM-3:00 PM

with Cathy Toll, Ph. D

Cathy Toll is an author and coaching consultant around the world. Her approach to Leadership for Learning includes:

- Everyone learns all the time; when we stop learning, we are dead.
- A key concern is, What is being learned, by students and by teachers?
- Open, honest questions are a first step in partnering with teachers to enhance learning.
- Support comes from information about students (i.e. data), knowledge of content, and pedagogical strategies.

Coaching IS staff development, and more and more school districts are exploring the benefits of educational coaching. Coaches can greatly improve student achievement if done effectively. Regardless of the type of coaching being done, this series will clearly articulate the Do's and Don'ts of coaching, as well as provide time for personal attention and problem-solving.
