In September, CESA 4 hosted the Business & Information Technology, Marketing, Family and Consumer Science, and Health Science Consultants from DPI to introduce the new Wisconsin CTE Content standards. The overview was the easy part – now you need time to dig in, start to unpack those standards and think about how to apply them in your program and your instruction!

Start that process with your colleagues at this workshop! This will be a facilitated work day for you to have time to really work through the new CTE standards and have professional dialogue around them.

What will you need? Your CTE Standards book, a laptop with your curriculum and whatever resources you think you may want to utilize for your first exploration.
