Join us at the Next Generation Schools 1st Annual Symposium

March 17-18, 2014
Stayer Center
Marian University
Fond du Lac, WI

Districts throughout the region have joined together to form a network of Next Generation Schools implementers. By collaborating and sharing on first iterations, districts are able to learn from and with each other as engineers of the future of public education in CESA 6. We are excited to present this symposium as an opportunity for educators to gain practical skills to employ in the classroom right away. The symposium is a great opportunity to learn from others and share your experiences, ideas, and success stories with colleagues.

Day 1 Pre-Conference

12:00 pm - 4:00 pm

Getting Learning Right the First Time, Every Time.

Presenter: Jim Rickabaugh

This session will provide an overview of the conceptual framework of personalized learning, its implications for learners and educators, the organizational change strategy schools are employing, emerging results and a discussion of the leverage personalized learning can provide in response to a variety of current mandates and initiatives.

Who am I as a Learner and Why does it Matter?

Presenter: Jean Garrity

Participants will learn about and explore the changing roles of learners and educators, the importance of a shared understanding of the learner to truly personalize the learning experience and a variety of tools and activities to support personalized learning environments.

The Holy Grail: Building Learner Independence.

Presenter: Jim Rickabaugh

This session explores the progression of learner capacity developed through personalized learning beginning with motivation, engagement and self-efficacy, and building toward ownership for learning and learning independence. A variety of specific strategies and approaches for assisting students to move along this continuum will be shared.

Day 2 Symposium

7:30 am - 3:45 pm
